

Annual summary of the results of the written final evaluation of courses and projects at Material Science and Product Design

The teaching evaluation has had special focus on organizing the lecturing, based on evaluation from the initial Programme, as well as ensuring the academic level of education.

There has been a close dialogue with the students about the continuous evaluation, which has been completed, as well as an oral evaluation.

All lecture plans have been reviewed and organized, with a view to the transition of the programme now being offered internationally.

The individual lecturer has been responsible for evaluating his or her own teaching course. The method has been optional and, in accordance with the procedure, the results could be presented in connection with an Employee Development Conversation or similar.

No action plan based on the teacher evaluation has been prepared, as the adjustments are made continuously.