

Healthcare in a global community

International nursing semester

Do you want a unique experience in Denmark? To study theory and have practical placements in a Danish hospital and in community nursing? Then join the exchange program in nursing leadership, management and care –meeting the healthcare needs in a global society in the 21st Century.

During the semester, students from many different countries will learn with, from and about each other to develop knowledge and skills in an inter-professional health and social care context.

Students become part of an international community with international students from different disciplines and participate in many social and cultural activities.
